“FLY ASH PRESENTATION”

Jeff Hearne - Salt River Materials Group - Phoenix Cement Company
&
Manny Mungaray - Salt River Materials Group - Phoenix Cement Company

Jeff Hearne is the Director of Quality Assurance for the Salt River Materials Group - Phoenix Cement Company and has been part of the SRMG Team for over 11 years. He has the responsibility for overseeing all testing, certification and related Technical issues for all products in all market areas. SRMG is made up of three business units producing the Phoenix Cement line of products, concrete and asphalt aggregates in the Phoenix area, and fly ash and lightweight aggregates from several Power Plants in Arizona and New Mexico. They operate multiple Terminals and manage a fleet of railcars for transportation and marketing throughout the Southwestern states. Prior to joining the SRMG Team, Jeff worked in the Ready Mixed Concrete field for over twenty years managing the Technical Services/Quality Control Departments of several major concrete/aggregate producers located in Arizona and Southern California. He is experienced in concrete mix design, aggregate production and material performance. Jeff is a Certified Concrete Technologist from the National Ready Mixed Concrete Association (since 1979), a Certified Trainer for the American Concrete Institute for Field Testing Technicians, a member of ASTM C1 Committee on Cement, C9 Committee on Concrete and Concrete Aggregates, Task Group 1 on ASTM C311 and Group 2 on ASTM C618 of Subcommittee C09.24 on Supplemental Cementitious Materials, C09.23.03 Chemical Admixtures, and C12 Committee on Mortars and Grouts for Unit Masonry. He is a current member of the Portland Cement Association's (PCA) Product Standards and Technology Committee, a current member of the ADOT and MAG Joint Committees on Concrete Specifications, and is a past Chairman of both the Association of General Contractors' (AGC) Education Committee and Arizona Rock Products Association's (ARPA) Concrete Technical and Education Committee.

Manny Mungaray is the Technical Services and Sales Representative for Salt River Materials Group. Salt River Materials Group produces and supplies Cement, Fly Ash, and Aggregates to the Southwestern United States. Manny has worked for the company for over 6 years and is responsible for the monitoring and troubleshooting of all products in all areas as well as assisting customers with the use of the products. Prior to working for Salt River Materials Group, Manny served 6 years in the Armed Services as an aircraft maintenance quality assurance inspector with the U.S. Navy and the U.S. Army National Guard where he was activated and served in Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan. Manny is a NRMCA certified Concrete Technologist, NRMCA Certified Pervious Concrete Technician, ACI Concrete Field Technician Grade 1, and ACI Concrete Flatwork Technician. He is the current Chairman of the Arizona Rock Products Technical Committee, an active member the Arizona Masonry Guild Technical Committee, and a Board member of the Arizona Concrete Contractors Association.
